

MISSION

The Hispanic and Latin Employee Network (HLEN) will work to attract, retain and develop top Hispanic talent into the healthcare distribution industry. HLEN provides a forum through which its members can gain access to mentoring and networking opportunities as well as promotes the cultural diversity of its members, thereby creating a supportive environment for the Latin/Hispanic community within the industry.

The Healthcare Distribution Alliance (HDA) is the national trade association representing primary pharmaceutical distributors. Member companies have access to all HDA offerings including the employee resource groups (ERGs), a professional development initiative. In 2023, HDA launched four ERGs to provide networking, career development, leadership and other opportunities for these communities and their allies. Visit hda.org/convene to learn more or contact HDA's Education department at edudept@hda.org.
